What affected the Fund's performance this period?

- U.S. equities gained for the 12 months ending April 30, 2025, driven by strong corporate profits, the potential for artificial intelligence and the Federal Reserve's mid-September pivot to cutting interest rates. However, beginning in February investor optimism gave way to volatility amid a flurry of executive actions by the new administration and uncertainty stemming from shifting policy priorities, especially related to tariffs.
- Against this backdrop, financials gained 16% and contributed most to the fund's performance for the fiscal year. Consumer staples stocks also helped, gaining about 28%. The utilities sector rose roughly 16%. Real estate (+5%) also contributed, lifted by the equity real estate investment trusts industry (+6%). Other contributors included the industrials (+2%), communication services (+5%) and information technology (-1%) sectors.
- In contrast, energy returned about -32% and detracted most. Consumer discretionary (-9%) also hurt. Other detractors were the health care (-2%) sector, held back by the pharmaceuticals, biotechnology & life sciences industry (-3%), and the materials (-6%) sector.
- Turning to individual stocks, the biggest contributor was Sprouts Farmers Market (+159%), from the consumer staples distribution & retail category. In pharmaceuticals, biotechnology & life sciences, Insmid (+191%) contributed. Rocket Lab (+480%), from the capital goods group, contributed. Carpenter Technology (+129%), a stock in the materials sector, helped. Lastly, Carvana (+55%), a stock in the consumer discretionary distribution & retail group, also helped.
- Conversely, the biggest detractor was Atkore (-63%), from the capital goods group. Vaxcyte, within the pharmaceuticals, biotechnology & life sciences group, returned -41% and hindered the fund. Lastly, PBF Energy (-67%), Murphy Oil (-52%) and SM Energy (-52%), from the energy sector, also hurt.
